

Park Bye-Laws

'Bye-laws' are laws set by a local authority to regulate its own affairs. They often relate a particular area - in this case, Philips Park.

All of Manchester's parks are governed by a series of bye-laws that are presently awaiting ratification following their recent review. These bye-laws broadly address entry to parks, displaying of information in parks, envirocrime, misuse of substances and weapons, waterways, events in parks and profiteering, transport in parks, dogs in parks, posts, public conveniences and enforcement. The purpose of their review is to modernise bye-laws to enable better addressing of contemporary social and environmental problems experienced in Manchester's urban green spaces.

A 'Plain English' version of the Philips Park Bye-Laws is currently awaiting approval. In the meantime, please read below for the existing park bye-laws:
